Focus Group Discussion

Date: 17-10-2018

On 17th October 2018, a Focus Group Discussion was conducted at the Irimbiliyam panchayath office. It is mainly conducted because the area was deeply affected biodiversity due to Kerala floods 2018.

Ward members of the affected regions, Agriculture Officer, Veterinary doctor, ASHA workers of affected wards, BMC members and 5 student volunteers participated. In the first session the need, process and methodology of the survey was explained to the audience. In the second session the FGD was conducted and the details collected were uploaded in the KSBB link using ODK software. From the work shop conducted and the Focus Group Discussion following, it was found that out of the total 17 wards, 15 wards were affected by the flood. But 2 wards were very meagrely affected. So the field survey was decided to be conducted on 13 wards and the schedule was prepared from 18th to 27th October.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

"Smrithipadhangal thedi"- 11/01/2019

The students gathered in our campus at around 6 pm on 10th Thursday. They started from the college by 7 pm with the guidance and company of our HOD Sebin, accompanied by other teachers Shabeeba and Dhanya.

We let off almost at 10 am in the morning to Govt. Tribal UP School, Pinavoorkudy, at Kothamanagalam. We reached our destination by 11 am. We had a psychology education training session in which we made them play games which paved the ways to goal setting, motivation and problem solving strategies. We began our sessions with a few ice breaking activities. The children were really enthusiastic and we could see the eagerness in their eyes. And finally we gave small tokens of appreciation for the winners and at last they even took a pledge that they would work hard and achieve their goals at any circumstances.

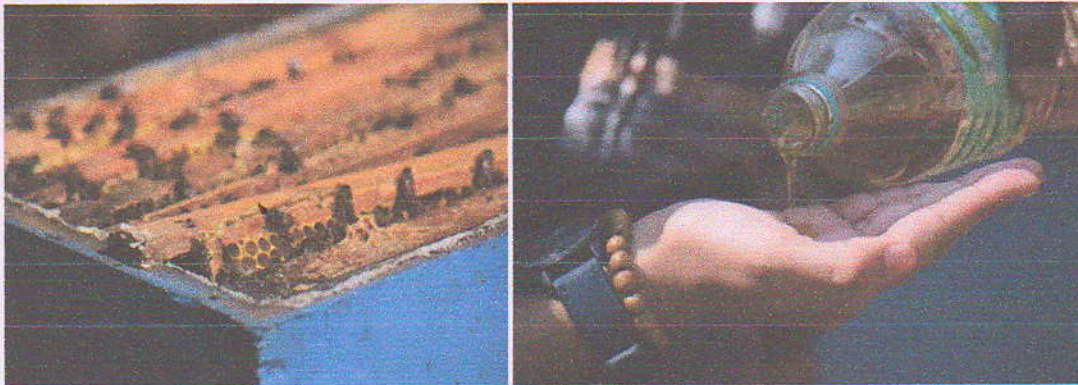

Then we visited the Uriyampatty tribal colony, deep within the jungles of Malayattoor forest division. 76 Muthuvan families live here, cut off from the rest of the world. The government too has stepped in with various welfare measures, but any substantial improvement in their daily grind remains a dream.

We visited them and tried to know more about their lifestyles, how they met their daily life demands. From the interaction we had with them, we could understand that they earned their life mainly through National Rural Employment Guarantee Act in which they involved in apiculture, candle making and other agricultural activities. Through the psychology education at the colony, we tried to improve their awareness of quality and effectiveness of the mental health services. We gave chocolates and color pencils to the children. They were really welcoming, and even offered us honey which they had collected from the forest. They talked about the benefits and uses of honey and honey comb and how they collected it. They also gave us a brief description about the candle making process. From this interactive session we could conclude that they were really attached to the nature and adopted such a way of living.

The extension activity gave us real insight about the give and take nature of knowledge. The Uriyampatty tribes enhanced us with their own kind of knowledge which we won't be able to find in any of our books. Hospitality is something which pleases all, no matter whether literate or illiterate, civilized or uncivilized and that was one among the lessons they taught us. They paved us a different path taking us closer to the nature which was a rare experience for us. Twenty six students were part of this.
